Dear Parents,
Greetings from Ave Maria School, Ramanthapur!

Academics and sports are very much interrelated. Adding sports and games to a child's curriculum will shape their personality. Here are some of the reasons to show why sports and games are important in schools.

- Improves Self-Esteem
- Participation Builds Social Skills
- Enhances Physical Fitness
- Helps with Concentration
- Sports and Games Develop Teamwork Skills
- Sports and Games Affect Mental Health
- Sports and Games Help in Weight Loss
- Sports and Games Opens Up Career Opportunities in the Future
- Sports and Games Build Character
- Sports and Games Develop Patience and Mental Toughness
- Sports and Games Promote Creativity

With immense benefits, these activities must be included in every child's curriculum. Apart from the mentioned advantages, there are plenty of other reasons to back its importance. Sports promote creativity, offer students a chance to learn new skills, provide opportunities for team-building experiences, and teach valuable lessons about the world. If your child shows interest in sports more than in academics, help them to follow their pursuit. Parents can also encourage children by enrolling them in additional training if your ward is interested in sports and other extracurricular activities.
